HUSBAND GIVES HIMSELF UP

Another homicide may be added to the already long list since the first of the year in Washington county as the result of a shooting that came as a Cincinnati Patch this morning. As the result of a shooting that came as a sequel of a quarrel between Alfonse Wade and his wife, Daniel Barber, a brother of the woman's in the Memorial hospital at Monongahela and may die, Wade is in the custody of the state police at Monongahela having given himself up.

When Wade arrived home at about 3 o'clock from work this morning he saw a letter on the table addressed to a Mrs. Maude Hill at Webster. It was it is said in his wife's handwriting. He read the missive and in it the writer stated she had not seen "him nor heard from him" for many days. Wade was immediately put on his guard and demanded to know from his wife just who the "he" was and why she should be writing to him. The outcome was that early this morning the woman left the house supposedly to go to a grocery store. Instead she went to the boiler house of the mine where Barber, her brother is employed.

Wade left the house soon after for the grocery store, but met his wife and her brother on the road. He attempted to pass, but the brother, Barber, stopped him and demanded to know why he had been speaking to his wife as he had. Wade replied that their domestic affairs were affairs of no concern to a third person, and attempted to go farther when Barber struck him with his fist. Wade staggered against a nearby building and drew a gun.

Bang went two shots and Barber fell. One of the bullets struck him in his left leg near the hip and the other in the groin.

By others who heard the shot ring out he was removed to the Memorial hospital at Monongahela, it was feared in a dying condition. Wade went

BENTLEYVILLE BOY VICTIM OF FATAL COASTING ACCIDENT

Charles Roycroft Guides Into Buggy While Sledding on Hill in Westmoreland Town.

A fractured skull received Wednesday of last week in a coasting accident resulted in the death Friday in the Westmoreland hospital at Greensburg of Charles Roycroft, aged eight years a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Roycroft of Bentleyville. The boy for some time had been residing with his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roycroft of near Irwin.

While coasting down an Irwin hill with a companion the sled on which the Roycroft lad was riding ran into a buggy. His head is supposed to have struck a wheel and his skull was fractured.

His condition was considered serious from the start. Soon after the accident he was removed to the hospital to undergo an operation with the hope that he would improve.

SAYS PULMOTOR WON'T SAVE LIFE

Physician Pronounces It Inefficient- Believes in First Aid Instruction

SCHOOLS SHOULD BE USED

Pronouncing the pulmotor, which is generally supposed to be a life-saving instrument, a failure and maintaining that first aid work should be taught in the schools, a Charleroi physician addressed the following open letter to the Mail, following a discussion of a recent tragedy and the needs of better life saving apparatus here:

I was much interested in reading an editorial in your issue of the 17th regarding the use of the pulmotor in accidents such as saddened the entire community recently.

The pulmotor, I am very sorry to say is a failure from the standpoint of practical usefulness, and the worst feature of its use is that often through a lack of knowledge of its inefficiency valuable time is lost by not using other methods which if used may result in the saving of life.

A few years ago the United States Bureau of Mines appointed a committee consisting of the best posted men of the country. This committee was asked to carry out a series of the most careful experiments and report as to the value of the pulmotor. The report was "That the pulmotor never had and was not capable of saving life"; further that it was probable that it had caused deaths needlessly because it had been used many times, in which life would have been saved by the use of some efficient method. The pulmotor is not found in the equipment of the government mine rescue cars, in the coast life saving stations or elsewhere.

In my opinion much credit is due Conductor McNulty from the fact that he did not lose his head but immediately put into effect

SENSATION RESULTS FROM JUROR'S ACTION

Personal Liberty Advocate Says he Has Perfect Right to Sell Liquor in Free Country—Expresses Himself
Rather Forcibly—Investigation May Follow

Sensation has been aroused at different points of the county by the action of a juror in a case at Washington this week and his subsequent call down by Judge R. W. Irwin. The juror was a personal liberty advocate to the extreme of setting himself up strongly against the law, it is reported, declaring himself a free citizen of a free country, enjoying untrammelled rights. Punctuating his statements about the court and a certain liquor case he is said to have used cusswords which flowed with more ease than music from his lips.

The case in which the juror was interested was a liquor case from Donora, George Koehler being charged with illegalities. Koehler conducts a boarding house. He sold to his boarders checks. The defendant then purchased intoxicants and when his boarders wanted drink they simply turned over to the defendant these checks. It was learned that two of the jurors voted against conviction on the first ballot and they stuck to that view until discharged, bringing other jurors to their view.

In the corridor after this disagreement is where the particular juror in question is said to have broken loose, following the discharge of the jury. He said in effect that he did not have to do what the court and the district attorney said. He also said that if he wanted to do what the defendant in this case had done it was nobody's business—he was for personal liberty.

The court in reviewing the Donora case remarked that it was quite evident that some of the jurors were prejudicial for the defense. The court showed very evident disapproval of the actions of at least the one juror whose name is not known. It is possible that investigations may follow this man's conduct.

SUNDAY HEARINGS TO BE ABOLISHED BY BURGESS

Another Drawback Added to List of Drawbacks For Saturday Night Jag—Custom Adopted Elsewhere.

Henceforth Saturday night jags will have more than one drawback, and one of them will be of recent date. This will lie in the fact that Burgess S. L. Woodward has decided not to give any more hearings on Sunday.

Previously it has been customary to grant hearings on Sunday in police court and many is the man who has owed his Monday freedom to this custom. However recent decisions of a local attorney that sentences imposed then are illegal has resulted in the custom being very generally discontinued in nearby towns. Last week Donora abolished Sunday hearings.

WILL PAY 10 PER CENT DIVIDEND

Uniontown First National Bank Permitted to Dis-burse $150,000

CHEERING NEWS TO FAYETTE

Announcement was made at Uniontown Friday that Comptroller of the Currency John Skelton Williams has authorized the payment of a 10 per cent dividend from the assets of the First National bank of Uniontown, which closed its doors January 13, 1915 with approximate liabilities of $2,000,000 of which less than $1,500,000 was represented by deposits. The dividend amounts to approximately $150,000.

During the last year John A. Strawn, permanent receiver in charge has collected notes amounting to more than $500,000 and retired the emergency currency of the bank, which was approximately $471,000. He has also redeemed valuable collateral pledged with Pittsburgh and other banks as security for borrowed money. In addition to this, he now has on hand funds sufficient to warrant the authorization of a 10 per cent dividend. No date has been set for its payment.

This is regarded as the best news Fayette county has had for more than a year in connection with the First National bank. While the money raised by Mr. Strawn for the retirement of the emergency currency and the release of collateral represented the most easily collectable accounts they were only a small part of the bank's assets, the most valuable of which are still intact. Among these are 10,000 shares of West Virginia coal stock held for the benefit of the depositors, the First National bank building, the Grand Opera House block the postoffice and the Standard building. The real estate is without incumbrance and yields a large rental.

ONE CASE LISTED FOR COMING WEEK

McPherson to be Put on Trial for Murdering W. J.
Hilton at Monongahela

OTHER CASES ARE ENDED

The first week of criminal court was finished Friday and court was adjourned until Monday at 1 o'clock. There is but one case listed for next week. It is the homicide case in which Samuel McPherson of Monongahela, must answer for the death of Wallace J. Hilton a former well known officer. Hilton was married to the mother of the defendant and the quarrel that resulted in the death of Hilton occurred at the Hilton home. McPherson is out under bail.

Etili Slopek, indicted with George Vunak, for conducting a speakeasy at Bentleyville, entered a plea of guilty Friday and was given the usual sentence of $500 fine and costs and three months in jail. The woman, from the evidence gathered, was the bar tender for Vunak, who entered a plea on Monday and was sent to the workhouse. Vunak endeavored to shift all the responsibility to the woman. She had entered a plea of guilty several days ago, but subsequently decided to stand trial. When her case was called she again decided to enter a plea of guilty.

Charles Pomi, of Langeloth who found guilty of selling liquor without license and acquitted of selling on Sunday. The jury recommended mercy for the defendant. He was given the minimum sentence of $500 and costs and three months in jail.

In connection with this case Joe Silvey has been arrested charged with extortion. The prosecutor is Pomi. It is claimed that Silvey extorted $100 from the defendant with the representation that he was a detective and could settle the case. Silvey will be given a hearing next week when District Attorney Baum has time to be present.

Joe Suskovich of Langeloth, withdrew his plea of not guilty and entered a plea of guilty to selling liquor without license. He was sentenced to pay the costs, fine of $500 and to undergo imprisonment in the county jail for three months.

By agreement of the district attorney and the counsel for the defense, verdicts of not guilty were taken in the case of the commonwealth against John Susnjur and Mike Kukich of the Burgettstown section, indicted for violating the liquor laws. The defendants agreed to pay the costs.

Servin Orbin and Teresin Orbin, husband and wife of the Pan Handle section, were found guilty of selling liquor without license. The woman was paroled. The evidence showed she was acting under the direction of her husband. The couple also have three small children that will have to be looked after so the court agreed the mother would be allowed to go. A condition imposed is that there be no liquor sold at the Orbin home or she will be arrested again and sentenced.

THE COUNTRY NEWSPAPER

There are many who are prone to believe that the day of the country or village newspaper is a thing of the past. Those on city dailies look down on the weekly and its editor as belonging to an entirely different profession. It goes without saying that in recent years the great dailies have made wonderful strides in circulation and influence, but it is also true that more persons read the papers of small circulation than the metropolitan publications, and in many ways the influence of the former is greater. The great journal aims to give a summary of the news of the world and so the events of every-day life secure but slight notice. It is the country newspapers which fill up this gap with news and gossip that is often more eagerly read than one of the great world battles being fought in Europe.

The things which are nearest to person, as a rule, are of the most interest to them. The man who would not care who was a victor in a battle for the heavyweight championship of the world would become excited over a dog fight in front of his own door. A fifty-dollar fire in his own street is more interesting than a million dollar conflagration in Chicago. There are hundreds of newspapers in Pennsylvania with enviable reputations and they do not print a line of telegraphic matter from one end of the year to the other.

The editor of a country newspaper is in much closer touch with his patrons than the editor of a great daily. The editor is the newspaper and he is under the limelight. He usually knows just what he should do to advance the interests of his community—and he does it well.

It is common to say that the day of the small newspaper is over. But it is only begun. There are perhaps 30,000 of them in this country and that they succeed is because they fill a want that cannot possibly be filled otherwise. There is not a hamlet where the right sort of a man cannot succeed. The country is one of the great forces of the country, one who must be reckoned with at all times; one whose positions of honor and trust is possibly the most distinguished in the community. He can make and unmake men and build up and tear down political powers. And let it be said to his credit that he usually combats the wrong.—Chester Times.

In Monessen a campaign has been organized against junk thieves with amazing results. A score of boys ranging in age from 12 to 17 years under the leadership of one conscienceless youngster of shrewd business instincts have been rounded up admittedly guilty of stealing vast quantities of brass, copper and other materials valued in the aggregate to hundreds of dollars. Their well organized system was apparently flawless. They were capable thieves. Yet they were nothing but children, and children which should have been under the strict guardianship of parents. Their disclosures prove the danger of any laxity in home regulations. Boys need watching.

The same old schemes of the sharpers attract us always and the older they get the better they seem to work. This week a precious pair of strangers, with suave talk separated one Charleoi merchant from more than $100 of hard earned money, leaving in return four worthless chips of glass as security. It was an old game to play but it worked well and will be worked elsewhere. Unceasing vigilance is the only remedy of the condition and prevention.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

The senator and major were walking up the avenue. The senator was more than middle-aged and considerably more than fat and deary as the major loved him also loved his joke.

The senator turned with a pleased expression on his benign countenance and said: "Major, did you see that pretty girl smile at me?" "Oh, that's nothing," replied his friend. "The first time I say you I laughed out loud."

"Yes, sir," said the boys. "Now," continued the teacher, "what I want to know is this: How is it that while I am standing upright in the ordinary position the blood doesn't rush into my feet?"

One of the detriments to uplift work is those dear old souls who are always so greatly concerned this winter about the weather next summer.

The most of us are always hunting something to deeply impress us and never quite succeeding in finding what we're after.

Judging from the late reports from the battle front and in the trenches it is very evident that this war is being fought in the ground.

PITT WINS IN GREAT STRUGGLE FROM HIGH SCHOOL; SCORE 35-33

University Team Which is Virtually
Charleoi Branch of Institution,
Gains Close Victory Over High School Basketball Five.

Charleoi won the basketball game—no, not Charleoi high school but the Charleoi branch of the University of Pittsburgh—at the high school gymnasium Friday evening. The score was 35 to 33 favor the freshman five from Pitt, this being the Charleoi branch.

The attraction, grand and glorious, was one of the most exciting basketball functions of an excitable season. Spectators were kept on edge. It took the last minutes to decide the contest and so close was the margin that it almost produced heart failure.

The Pitt lads, with Captain Duncan Berryman at their head and John Lutes, last year a Charleoi high school played at center, came with their greatest strength, for they had not overrated Charleoi. Both these lads played a great game.

Charleoi plugged steadily at it until the whistle sounded closing the contest. Miksch at guard with his mate Stahlman put forth a great game. The forwards, Lowstuter and Fiedler were at their best and Jim Ryland at center played one of his best games, facing one of the hardest men he was ever up against in Lutes. Eckert and Lobaugh for Pitt did extremely well.

The game opened with Pitt scoring one point on a foul. Charleoi got their first point the same way. By the end of the first quarter Charleoi was leading by a single point. However by the close of the first half Pitt had gained the ascendancy with the score 16 to 14.

Opening up the second half Pitt started out strong and in a jiffy had tallied couple of field goals. Then Charleoi started upward to accompaniment of howls from the enthusiastic crowd. At 20 the two teams tied. Then Pitt broke away for a second and kept ahead until Charleoi tied at 28. By a field goal the locals jumped ahead one and the excitement was at fever heat. Pitt got a foul goal and then to the sadness of the Charleoi fans scored a field goal. Pitt maintained the lead from that time forth ending the game. Their last scores came in the last minute of play. Lineup:

Charleoi High—33	Pitt Fresh—35
Lowstuter F	Lobaugh
Fiedler F	Eckert
Ryland C	Lutes
Stahlman G	Armstrong
Miksch G	Berryman

Field goals—Lowstuter 2, Fiedler, Ryland 5, Stahlman, Miksch, Lobaugh 5, Eckert 6, Lutes 2. Foul goals—Fiedler 13 of 25, Lobaugh 9 of 19. Referee—Wagner.

The Lyceum team defeated the All Stars in an exciting struggle by the score of 50 to 29. The lineup:

Lyceum—50	All Stars—29
Scheiler F	Kiefer
Messonnier F	Girard

feated by Dunlevy by the score of 4 to 2. Lineup:

In a fast and close guarding game the Lyceum Juniors defeated the Thirteen Club of Monessen by the score of 21 to 8. The Lyceum played excellent ball with Conway being the individual star, scoring 17 of the 21 points. Monessen was guarded too closely to allow any show of form. The lineup:

Lyceum 21	Monessen—8
Conway F	Jones
Lucon F	Sutman

Sues For Lumber Sold.
The Walton Lumber Co., of Charleroi has filed a suit against Marie Jane, alias Marie D. Bartolozzi to recover the sum of $563.15 with interest from December 28, 1914. This is alleged due for lumber and supplies sold and delivered to the defendant, or a house erected at Charleroi.

what every railroad man is taught in his first aid instructions. This should act as an incentive for the continuation of such teaching by all corporations and the subject should also be placed in the public schools probably junior or senior high, as many graduates of our schools do not become identified with corporations who teach first aid to employees.

This is not written as a criticism but purely as a statement of fact with the hope that an incorrect impression of the efficiency of the pulmotor may be corrected and that those who have charge of such cases may do nothing harmful before the arrival of the physician. Let me advise—get the water out of the lungs and use the Schafer method of artificial respiration.

COYLE THEATRE

Paramount Pictures Corporation
ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY WEST FORTIETH STREET
NEW YORK, N.Y.

AMONG THE THEATRES

COYLE-CHARLEROI
Special features were numerous at the Coyle theatre the past week. In fact one was shown each day. On Monday a picture version of Victor Hugo's great novel "Les Miserables" was shown. This was in nine parts and was a vivid and interesting story. Pauline Frederick, the distinguished emotional actress enacted the title role of "Lydia Gilmore" which was shown Tuesday. "The Lure of Heart's Desire" a story of the great white way and the Alaskan gold fields featuring Edmund Breese was the attraction Wednesday. Probably the leading feature of the week was the starring of Geraldine Farrar, the famous prima donna in "Temptation," on Thursday. The scenes of this photodrama are laid in New York City some in the Ritz-Carlton Hotel and others in the big Opera house. Friday Cleo Madison the famous beauty appeared in "A Soul Enslaved." Attractive announcements are being made for the coming week.

MAJESTIC-CHARLEROI
The past week at the Majestic theatre was characterized by the introduction of the Triangle lays on Tuesday. The Majestic is the first of the Charleroi theatres to handle these famous productions and they will be shown regularly. Monday's feature was "Camille" with the famous beauty and actress Clara Kimball Young in the stellar role. Douglas Fairbanks one of the best comedians of the screen appeared in "The Lamb" a dramatic farce which was shown Tuesday. Mabel Normand and Raymond Hitchcock also appeared Tuesday in the leading parts of "My Val," a comedy. The Wednesday attraction was "Her Painted Soul" a vivid drama of the underworld with Jessie Berriscale in the feature role. Julia Dean appeared in "The Ransom" which was shown Thursday. This was a wonderful picture of life behind the scenes and one in which a moral lesson was issued to girls who fear to answer to the call of the bright lights.

PALACE-CHARLEROI
Varied entertainment, with the usual comedy features, put character into the Palace theatre program this week. Beginning the first three days a show of decidedly interesting attractions was presented. Viola & Company, with a 20th Century Animal circus featured the bill and strengthened it. Baird and Bayne appeared as singing and harmony yodelers. Arnold Brothers, a duo of the waning blackface sort presented some original comedy. For the last three days the bill is a good one. The leadliner act is the Knickerbocker Trio, with music, singing, dancing and talking. Willard & Milton are appearing in a comedy, singing, dancing and talking act and The Dancing Specks, who played the Sheridan Square theatre, Pittsburg last week are offering their comedy act. Pictures this week included "The Secret Seven," "A Boy at the Throttle," and the Ham and Bud comedians in "The Caretaker's Dilemma."

Summing Up The Evidence Many Charleroi People Have Been Called As Witnesses.

Week after week has been published the testimony of Charleroi people—kidney sufferers—backache victims—people who have endured many forms of kidney, bladder or urinary disorders. These witnesses have used Doan's Kidney Pills. All have given their enthusiastic approval. It's the same everywhere. 30,000 American men and women are publicly recommending Doan's—always in the home papers. Isn't it a wonderful convincing mass of proof? If you are a sufferer your verdict must be "Try Doan's first."

Here's one more Charleroi case. Mrs. Charles Bromwich, 714 Washington avenue, Charleroi, says: "I had a severe attack of kidney disease. I suffered from pain across the small of my back and had headaches and a constant, tired feeling. Nothing I took helped me. After using Doan's Kidney Pills a few days, I felt better and I continued until I was permanently cured."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Bromwich had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

WONDERS WORKED BY FEDERAL DRUG LAW

That the Harrison law, controlling the importation and dispensation of narcotics, has worked wonders for the relief of mankind in the first year of its existence is attested by physicians and druggists. The druggists are especially well qualified to pass opinion for they are the ones who come in direct, continuous contact with the victims of opiates. The law will have completed its first year of existence on March 1.

That there is no need of a state law supplementing the Harrison law is the consensus of opinion if the Harrison law can be amended in some details. The Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Association this week sent broadcast a bulletin to the effect that a state law to supplement the federal law may be considered at the annual meeting of the association at Reading, Pa. Association members state that there is no certainty that its legislative committee will submit such a law.

The bulletin goes on to say that jobbers and manufacturing chemists through whose hands narcotic drugs first pass, assert that the importation of narcotics into the United States has dropped off 80 per cent within the present fiscal year. But the bulletin asserts that certain newspaper reports have been to the effect that the number of drug-users has not decreased. "Therefore the conditions referred to must be local and not general," asserts the association bulletin.

But a druggist asserted that the state association was in error as to the drug-users not growing less in number.

"The decrease in the number of narcotic users has been phenomenal within a year," said the druggist. "Furthermore drug users who have not ceased entirely to use such have cut down the consumption of opium, cocaine and morphine to such an extent that I believe many of them will be entirely cured within another year. I know of one case where the victim had been in the habit of using one quart of tincture of opium a week. The Harrison law went into effect. Of course this patient went under the care of a physician. The unfortunate is now using merely four ounces a week and will soon be able to cut it out entirely. This speaks splendidly for the law."

But there looms up now, despite cocaine, opium, heroin and morphine being under the control, a new danger Cannabis Indica, popularly known as Indian hemp, and which does not have to be imported, as it can be grown in America, slipped through the Harrison law. It is being used by drug victims who have not sought to free themselves. The Harrison law does not cover the sale of Indian hemp. It can be bought for the asking and the price is not high.

LONGEST AND SHORTEST DAYS IN WORLD MATTERS CHIEFLY OF LOCATION

It is quite important, when speaking of the longest day in the year, to say what part of the world we are talking about as will be seen by reading the following list, which tells the length of the longest day in several places. How unfortunate are children in Tornea, Finland, where Christmas Day is less than three hours in length!

At Stockholm, Sweden, the longest day is 18 1-2 hours.

At Spitzbergen the longest day is 3 1/2 months.

At London, England and Bremen, Prussia, the longest day was 16 1/2 hours.

At Hamburg, in Germany, and Dantz, in Prussia, the longest day has 17 hours.

At Wardbury, Norway, the longest day lasts from May 21st to July 22d, without interruption.

At St. Petersburg, Russia and Tobolsk, Siberia, the longest day is 19 hours and the shortest 5 hours.

At Tornea, Finland, June 21st brings a day nearly 22 hours long and Christmas one less than 3 hours in length.

At New York the longest day is about 15 hours and at Montreal, Canada, it is 16.

MCLEARY ALMOST BECAME WASH-JEFF STAR INSTEAD OF STATE COLLEGE PLAYER

Speaking of the movement started recently to place Edward (Bull) McCleary in charge of athletics at California Normal recalls that McCleary narrowly missed being a W. & J. athletic star instead of a sport luminary at Penn State, where he graduated, says the Washington Reporter. The Reporter says: "McCleary after graduation from California was a much touted athlete and was induced by the Wash-Jeff. alumni of the Monongahela valley to enter the local institution. Mac came to Washington and registered and was assigned to quarters in the football training house, then in South Main street. He remained a few days, but for some reason did not take kindly to local conditions and surroundings. He averred that W. & J. was a 'cold' institution and that he did not feel at home. He left immediately and journeyed to State College, where he became a star in both baseball and football in his Freshman year. When W. & J. was looking around for a coach at the time Bob Folwell was engaged by the Red and Black McCleary was an applicant for the position. He conferred on several occasions with Manager Murphy and was seriously considered for a time as he had strong backing among the alumni. He was passed up when Murphy found he could get Folwell. 'McCleary has had wide experience as a player and coach and his acquisition by California Normal, it is believed would augur well for the revival of athletic interest at the school. McCleary is retained by the Normal authorities it is understood that he will be general athletic director and coach and will also become an instructor in mathematics."

Uniontown Man Notified of His Inheritance, But Protests Against Becoming Orderly Member of Society—Order up Drinks.

Curled up comfortably in a warm bed at Oliver No. 1, E. W. Jenkins of Canton, Ohio, who recently inherited $10,000 through the death of his mother, declares he prefers to make over to surroundings which the small fortune would bring. Friday Attorney Homer Black of Canton arrived in Uniontown in an effort to persuade the man to go to Ohio and claim his inheritance.

A week ago, when Jenkins was found working for C. L. Titus, a Uniontown plumber, he was warned to delay the expenses of a trip to Canton. He tossed the $30 in front of a bartender, according to spectators, and ordered "drinks for all present."

In defending his position Jenkins said:

"Society ain't nothing but an empty shell. Someone pulls the strings and you got to perform. It means a white stiff collar in the day and a swallow tail at night. If you get drunk the neighbors are shocked. And the gossip of the women is enough to drive a man crazy. Now, if I go back to get my money, it means that I will have to go through all kinds of discomforts for the family's sake. Here I can do as I please and haven't a single thing to worry about."

Jenkins was persuaded to sign a paper necessary in settling the estate, but directed that if there was any money coming to him it should be sent to his coke oven address in Oliver.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN SERVICES AT AN END

The two weeks' special services at the First Presbyterian church closed Friday night with the strongest sermon in the entire series by Rev. S. G. Noble. He chose for his text "We love him because he first loved us." The evangelist showed how God's love for man was manifested in every act of creation, for he made all things upon the earth and under for the blessing of man he made nothing for the express purpose of giving pain. The greatest honor bestowed upon man was to be created in the image of God, the speaker said: "Man by sinning lost the image of God," declared Evangelist Noble, "but he did not lose favor for God immediately made plans for his redemption." By many beautiful illustrations, Rev. Noble showed how God has taught us to love Him. The meetings closed have been good ones according to the interest shown by the congregation.

It is Vinol, composed of the healing, medicinal extractives of cod livers, without oil, peptonate of iron for the blood and the nourishing properties of beef peptone. It goes to the seat of the trouble, removes the cough and cures the cold. Vinol is a very reliable preparation.
